

THE SHARED VALUES SHORT EVALUATION ARE YOU IN LINE WITH CQL?

When it comes to:	Do you know...?	Are you sure ...?	What needs to change?....	SO THAT....
Dignity and Worth	If people are encouraged to follow their dreams and desires?	That people are supported to be successful members of community organizations?		People are respected
Legal and Human Rights	About the rights that are most important to each person?	That you refrain from making judgments about the rights people wish to exercise?		People exercise their rights
Self-Determination and Choice	If people participate on the boards of community organizations, civic groups, and governmental entities?	That you have a mechanism to ensure that people have a voice?		People choose personal goals
Community Settings	If people see them selves as members of a larger community?	That you support and educate people to use community resources to achieve their goals?		People realize their goals
Social Capital	If community organizations and civic networks are socially welcoming to all community members?	That you promote the contributions of people with disabilities to the community?		People interact with other members of the community
Community Partnerships	If community members participate in the life of the organization?	That you provide support for leadership development to all people?		People live in integrated communities
Shared Leadership	Who the informal leaders are?	That you celebrate all contributions that people make to the life of the organization?		People have social roles
Continuous Learning	If people know about the history of the disability rights and mental health social movements?	That you keep up with new thinking and new practices?		People participate in the life of the community
Open Communication	If people find your materials clear, concise, and easy to understand?	That you encourage people to share information and new ideas?		People decide when to share personal information
Continuous Improvement	If people know about your quality improvement plan?	That you use what you learn to improve the quality of your services?		People choose services